A Simple Single Layer No-Sew Fleece Blanket

Start with a 1-1/2 to 2 yard long piece of fleece
(‘kid-friendly’ patterns, no solids please)

1. Carefully trim off the selvage edges top & bottom (those rolled, rough or discolored edges), leaving a very straight, clean edge – see picture below

2. Fold fleece in half (with trimmed selvage edges together)

3. Trim to even-up the sides and selvage edges

4. Place a measuring tape or painter’s tape 6” from the selvage edge and pin through both layers of fleece

5. If using painter’s tape, mark every 1/2” or 1” for fringe pattern (avoid drawing directly on fleece), then cut fringe strips up to the tape, cutting both layers at the same time – see picture below

6. Remove tape and pins; UNFOLD FLEECE

7. Loosely tie each separate piece of fringe with a simple knot at the top of each strip (where it connects to the rest of the blanket) – see picture below

Finished blanket will be approximately 48” x 54” (excluding fringe)

(Note: Drawing not to scale)

Step 1 – Trim off selvage at both ends. These are the rolled, rough or discolored edges and could be 1/2” – 2”+ wide. Some may even have writing from the fabric maker.

Step 5 - Cut fringe in either 1/2” or 1” wide strips

Step 7 – Loosely tie a simple knot at top of each fringe piece so blanket lies flat when finished.
